

Removing the Hole Left by a Dormer

When you insert a dormer on your roof, a hole is cut in the roof to open up the dormer to the location below. Sometimes this hole remains in the roof after you have deleted the dormer. Follow the steps below to return the roof to its original condition.

1. Select the roof surface where the dormer existed.
2. Right-click and select Properties.
3. In the Roofs dialog, click OK. This regenerates the roof surface and removes the hole.
The line that remains represents the rear line of the dormer.
4. Select the remaining line and then press the Delete key on your keyboard.
